About Your Fire

Widney fires are designed for use in holiday homes and semi-permanent dwellings. They provide efficient radiated heat to the localised area and have been rigorously tested to ensure compliance with the relevant standards.

Your new fire should provide years of reliable heating providing that it is correctly maintained as detailed in this manual.

If service is required please refer to the contact information provided at the end of this manual.

SECTION 1: FIRE OPERATION

READ THESE INSTRUCTIONS BEFORE LIGHTING YOUR FIRE.

(Your installer should give you instruction on how to operate this appliance).

When the fire is first lit, it should be run on high setting for about 1 hour. Ensure the room is well ventilated and all doors and windows are open, this is to allow for any residual lubricants remaining from the manufacturing process to burn off.

TO LIGHT THE FIRE:

The fire has an integral ignition system which will light the pilot and main burner flame on initial lighting.

Ensure that the gas supply is turned on to the appliance
Ensure that the gas valve is in the off position as indicated in the diagram. Fig8

- 1) Depress the gas control knob and turn anti-clockwise rapidly (Two Clicks will be heard), the fire should now be lit. The main burner and pilot can be viewed via the small round hole in the chrome trim just in front of the radiants.

WARNING: do not get too close to the fire. Fig12

- 2). After rotating the control knob hold in the depressed position for approximately 10 seconds this will allow the thermocouple safety device to operate.
- 3). Once lit the fire control can be turned anti-clockwise to full heat or any position between low and high for the desired output.

If the fire fails to ignite on the first attempt repeat the procedure in rapid succession 3 times. If the fire has not lit after 3 attempts leave for 5 minutes and repeat steps 1 to 3.

In some cases the fire may need several attempts to ignite if the gas supply has recently been replaced to purge air from the system.

SECTION 2: CLEANING

It is recommended for all chrome or stainless surfaces that a damp cloth is used then any residual marks dried off with a soft cloth.

To clean painted surfaces use a soft cloth.

It is recommended that the surfaces behind the fire guard be cleaned regularly with a feather type duster to reach between the bars of the fireguard, DO NOT REMOVE THE FIRE GUARD.
